Dear Parents/Carers

22 May 2020

I would just like to update you with the schools latest plan for re-opening.

Next week is half term, so take a break from home learning. The school will be open for the children of key workers and vulnerable learners and we will remain open to these groups throughout the summer term. It is helpful if you inform us in advance if you require this service.

On Monday 1st June the school will be open to children of key workers and vulnerable children only and home learning will resume.

Under the current plan, we are inviting our Y6 pupils to return to school for a 2 week period beginning Monday 22 June. This is to help them prepare for their move to secondary school and to celebrate their achievements. Y6 parents will receive a separate letter with details of this return in the next week or so.

We then aim to re-introduce our children in EYFS (from the week beginning Monday 6 July) to help them prepare for transition to Y1.

Under this plan, no other year groups would be considered for re-introduction until September 2020.

The Government have made it clear that no action will be taken against parents who choose not to send their child to school at this time.

It is important to note, that all plans are subject to review and a constantly changing national picture.

Thank you for your continued support and understanding.

Yours sincerely

Jonathan Wanless
